

Prof. Lucian Petrescu, MD, PhD
(Timisoara, Romania)

Lucian Petrescu, MD, PhD is Professor of Cardiology and Internal Medicine and PhD coordinator at the Doctoral School Medicine-Pharmacy of "Victor Babeş" University of Medicine and Pharmacy from Timișoara, Romania.

Prof. Petrescu is former head of Cardiology Department and chief of the Interventional Cardiology Division and ICU within the Institute of Cardiovascular Diseases from Timișoara where he also served as Scientific Director until May 2021. He defended his PhD in Paris and was trained in interventional Cardiology in Nice (France). He was nominated Visiting Professor at the Universidad Nacional del Nord-Este from Corrientes, Argentina (1995).

He authored and co-authored 7 medical volumes (Romanian Academy Award 1998) and more than 40 papers published in international medical journals (European Heart Journal, JAMA, Scientific Reports, Int J Cardiol, Int J Cardiovasc Imaging, PACE, J Clin Med, Life, Clinical Interventions in Aging, Molecular and Cellular Biochemistry, Can J Physiol Pharmacol, Int J Mol Sci, Diagnostics, Drug Design, Development and Therapy etc.). He is fellow of European Society of Cardiology and member of the Romanian Society of Cardiology.

He is also member of the Romanian Writers Union and published 7 volumes of fiction (novel, prose, poetry), being awarded the Prize of the Writers' Union from Timișoara - branch for prose in 1999 and 2000.