Dear Colleagues,

It is an honour to welcome you to this new edition of the Egon and Ann Diczfalusy Foundation Conference, a meeting dedicated to science, education, and international collaboration.

This distinguished event continues the tradition of fostering dialogue, innovation, and collaboration in the fields of obstetrics, gynecology, and reproductive medicine, building on the visionary legacy of Professors Egon and Ann Diczfalusy, whose pioneering work continues to inspire generations of scientists and clinicians.

Organised under the auspices of the Victor Babeş University of Medicine and Pharmacy of Timișoara, together with the Universities of Szeged and Novi Sad, and the Pius Brînzeu Emergency County Clinical Hospital, the conference serves as a multidisciplinary platform where leading experts, researchers, and clinicians meet to exchange knowledge and explore emerging frontiers in women's health.

The scientific program reflects the diversity and complexity of modern reproductive and gynecologic science. Topics include minimally invasive therapies, placental and pregnancy pathology, assisted reproduction, reproductive health and gender-based issues, gynecologic oncology, and environmental and technological challenges that shape the future of healthcare for women. Special emphasis is placed on integrating artificial intelligence and digital technologies as transformative tools to enhance diagnostic precision, improve clinical outcomes, and advance preventive strategies.

The event opens with a Pre-Conference Practical Course in Ultrasound Diagnosis and Ultrasound-Guided Procedures in Obstetrics and Gynecology (Hands-On Simulator Training), providing participants with the opportunity to refine their skills in a practical, interactive environment. The subsequent oral communications and poster sessions will showcase the latest research and clinical advancements, stimulating dialogue between established leaders and young professionals alike.

By bringing together experts from Romania and abroad, this conference reaffirms the enduring mission of the Egon and Ann Diczfalusy Foundation - to promote scientific excellence, interdisciplinary cooperation, and the improvement of reproductive and maternal health worldwide.

We extend our sincere appreciation to all invited speakers, contributors, and participants for their valuable contributions, and we warmly welcome you to Timișoara - a city of innovation, medical tradition, and cultural openness. We invite you to actively participate in discussions, share your expertise, and help advance women's health and reproductive medicine.

We wish you inspiring sessions, fruitful exchanges, and a memorable experience in Timișoara.

With warm regards,

Prof. Univ. Dr. Ferenc Bari
